Belstrad Laundry Celebrates Its Tenth Anniversary Sept. 26

Belstrad, a new plant of the Belstrad Laundry Company, will be opened in New York City, Monday, September 26. The company, which has been operating successfully in New York for the last three years, is now ready to celebrate its tenth anniversary.

The company was founded in 1927 with a small wash-plant at 220 W. 23rd St. Since then it has expanded steadily until now it owns the entire three-storied building which houses the Belstrad Laundry. The company has grown from a small enterprise to a large one, and has already established itself as one of the leading laundry concerns in the city.

The company's success is due to the fact that it is operated as a close-knit organization by men who are skilled in the laundry business. The employees are all well-paid, and the company has a reputation for fair dealing with its customers.

The Belstrad Laundry Company is owned and operated by William Belstrad, who has been in the laundry business for many years. He is a well-known figure in the laundry industry, and is respected by his colleagues.
